

An Artistic Interpretation of an Iconic Sports Car – Irene Kung Puts the New Porsche 911 in the Spotlight

Series of works available from LUMAS starting in February 2019

Berlin, January 17, 2019 – In her work, photographer Irene Kung plays with perceptions, blurring the lines between reality and illusion. The viewer only notices certain details after looking several times; the Swiss artist consciously inserts them as a stylistic element of her work. Together with LUMAS, a globally-operating art gallery, Kung has translated the new Porsche 911 into her own visual vocabulary. Starting in February 2019, her stunning artworks will be available worldwide as part of the LUMAS collection.

In her Timeless Machine series, Irene Kung creates a previously unheard of symbiosis between technological trailblazing and timeless art. Her interpretation of the new Porsche 911 is realized in six images, which LUMAS art galleries will make available to art enthusiasts around the world beginning in early 2019.

“My pictures should enchant people, inspire them to dream, and tell them stories. You should be able to switch off and let them take you to another level,” says Kung about her photographs. It should come as no surprise that each of her pictures reveals captivating new details with every look. In China and the USA, in snow and in the desert, Irene Kung uses diverse locations around the world to spotlight the automobile’s timeless design in a characteristic yet subtle way. To her, the car’s sensual beauty is a key component. Her perception of this mysterious and fascinating vehicle is especially apparent in the piece Dragon.
